ELSIE SALISBURY IS FREED BY JURY TODAY

CHIPPEWA COUNTY FARMERS' VERDICT GIVEN IN 4 HOURS

DECLARE SHE WAS NOT GUILTY OF SHOOTING DOWN HER SWEETHEART

PRETTY LITTLE RAILROAD STENOGRAPHER THANKED EACH JUROR PERSONALLY

Montevideo, Dec. 12.—The "little queen" of Montevideo has been freed of the murder charge.

It took a jury of Chippewa county farmers less than four hours to agree that Elsie Salisbury was not guilty of shooting down her sweetheart, Oscar Erickson, in cold blood.

The pretty little railroad stenographer thanked each juror personally through a flood of tears, and took the first train for Minneapolis. Symptoms of the "nervous breakdown" which held up the trial a day and a half when the prosecution was reaching its climax, had disappeared.

The jury agreed on Elsie's defense that it was the "merest accident" when the automatic pistol she held put three bullets into Erickson's back as he started out of her private office in the Milwaukee road division offices here. Erickson, a clerk, had just returned the borrowed weapon to her.

Prosecuting attorneys conferred until a late hour, on the possibility of bringing a new charge against the diminutive defendant. They made no public decision. G. E. Youngquist, assistant attorney general, State Senator Oluf Gjerset and County Attorney A. E. Kief conducted the state's case.

The state contended the motive of extreme jealousy had been proven by more than 20 witnesses introduced. Erickson, the state pleaded, had disregarded her love, the little stenographer admitted.

Jury Foreman G. R. Blom was so affected he asked the clerk to read the verdict when court was convened at 8:45 last night.

THREE MEN ROB HUGO STATE BANK

Hugo, Minn., Dec. 12.—Three young men bound a cashier and customer in the First State Bank here at 10:45 this morning, and escaped with $4,000 in cash.

The trio entered the bank and "stuck up" F. E. Carpenter, assistant cashier. They bound him and left him lying on the floor while they gathered up currency and coin.

Hugo Aensness, a customer, walked in, and the bandits bound him, leaving both on the floor. They scooped up the money, went to their automobile outside, and drove rapidly away toward White Bear. They were seen there.

Carpenter struggled free of his bonds and gave the alarm. No trace of the bandits had been found at noon.

Cold Wave Grips North Half of America

COL. A. A. WHITE, EMPIRE BUILDER, TO GIVE BRAINERD NEW PARK SITES

Col. A. A. White, empire builder of the Northwest, arrived in Brainerd and announced he was anxious to complete his formal transfer to the city of two wonderful and beautiful park sites. One of the tracts is located back of the court house in the hollow and includes unplatted lands. The other lies north of the railway track and bridge and contains an historic spot, the old Hallett trading post. The latter tract includes some two or three blocks.

Mr. White was to appear before the city council at the special meeting held Monday evening, but was unable to attend and so the council deferred to the next regular meeting, December 18, further consideration of Mr. White's generous offer.

With that broad vision that has characterized Col. White in all his affairs, he has seen the need in Brainerd of more park ground and has set about to meet that need and thus through his donation build in the hearts of a grateful citizenship something more enduring than the biggest monument ever erected.

The offer of Mr. White was referred to the city property committee composed of H. F. Michael chairman and Alderman Quansstrom and Cameron. They have been in conference with representatives of Mr. White and have been awaiting details before making recommendations to the council. It is quite probable these can all be supplied while Mr. White is in the city.

Mr. White stated to the Dispatch that his wife would soon join him in Brainerd and thus be able to unite with him in the deeds to be given to the city.

Mr. and Mrs. White took a prominent part in the 50th anniversary celebration which Brainerd held last July and renewed acquaintances. He was instrumental in forming the pioneer's association.

A Man of Action

Colonel White is a man of action, and this is shown in the two page writeup given the colonel in the "Billings Star", of Billings, Montana in December, 1919. Here is the tribute given him:

"Colonel A. A. White, formerly with headquarters at St. Paul, now at Missoula, blew in on Billings on Thursday, December 11, looking hale and hearty, and fit as a soldier prepared for action. Colonel White is a Civil war veteran now in his seventy-sixth year, although he moves about with the pep of a man in his prime. He is one of the best known men in the West."

"For fifty years he has operated in manifold activities from St. Paul to Seattle, from Seattle to San Francisco and Kansas City. A railroad engineer, builder of fifty towns, owner, in cooperation with his brother, now deceased, of a score or more lumber yards in North Dakota, manufacturer, manager of hotels, he has been for fifty years a general all-round booster and promoter and captain of industry in a half a dozen western states. One thing characteristic of the colonel is that he owns and controls his own enterprises. He has no partners, pays as he goes and never gives mortgages on any of his properties."

WANT TO KNOW WHO IS BEHIND IT

Washington, Dec. 12.—Hearings in the Daugherty impeachment proceedings started today before the house judiciary committee, the council for Attorney General Daugherty demanding the identity of persons "behind the thing."

"What we want to know at the start," declared former Congressman Paul Bowland, of Cleveland, representing Daugherty, "who is behind Representative Keller in this impeachment resolution? He says in the record that he was aided in the preparation of his charges by certain other persons. Now we want to hear who these persons are."

"Long associated with James J. Hill, he was repeatedly offered lucrative salaries, but always declined to work for wages. He insisted on being his own boss. This probably accounts for his well known independence in politics and other matters. But recently Colonel White has moved his headquarters from St. Paul to Missoula. He has large interests in western Montana and around Flathead Lake, where he owns fourteen miles of shore line. He is a public-spirited citizen and has been a liberal contributor to churches, charities, war and Red Cross activities and to good works of every kind, regardless of church or party affiliations."

Attracted National Attention

"The colonel's movements have oftentimes been more or less spectacular, whether designedly so or not we do not venture to say. In this regard he reminds one of Theodore Roosevelt. Whatever he undertakes to do, he drives at it with all his might. Some years ago he was on board a steamer on its way from an Italian port to New York. The steamer that carried him collided with another big vessel and when both the captain and his crew were thrown into consternation and the passengers were panic-stricken for fear that the vessel, as seemed sure, would sink in a few minutes, Colonel White ordered the band to play, gave the steward two thousand dollars, with the order that all the passengers be furnished food immediately and in abundance. He went up and down the deck and assured the passengers that they would either reach New York in safety or have a howling good time while the ship was afloat. The colonel's assurances and monumental audacity turned the tide calmed the crew and transformed the terror-stricken passengers, many of whom had run to the decks in their nightrobes, into a merry crowd of smiling, shouting men and women. New York papers, not without reason, called him the hero of the Baltic. Colonel White has always been a sort of western Ulysses, ready to meet with equal unconcern both triumph and disaster."

Oregon Enterprises

Recently the colonel became interested in Oregon. There he has located new townships, resort hotels and irrigation projects from the Willamette Valley east over the Cascade mountains along the old Military Wagon Road, a distance of 500 miles to Snake river, the boundary line between Oregon and Idaho, and plans to establish an auto transportation line for tourists, until such time as the two great trunk line railroads are prepared to construct lines to complete the building up of this vast inland empire, of wonderful and awe inspiring scenery, and productive soil, and when irrigated according to Colonel White's plans will become thickly settled with happy homes, churches and schools. There are no mountains in the old world to be compared to the Cascade mountains in Oregon, said Col. White. Hundreds of thousands of tourists, said the colonel, will be attracted to Oregon when his plans are completed.

In an address before the annual American Farm Bureau convention, Cunningham told the farmers to take up the gauntlet and wage bitter battle on the coming legislators with the view to forcing the big grain boards to permit their representatives to membership.

"The American farmer has a right to a seat on the grain exchange to see that the grain he produces is honestly valued," he declared.

N. P. SKILLED MEN GET INCREASED PAY

CONFERENCE WITH SHOPMEN LOWERED UNSKILLED RATE, SAYS SUPERINTENDENT

St. Paul, Dec. 12.—New rates of shopmen's pay decided upon by the Northern Pacific railway and 12 delegates representing all its shopmen set aside government classifications of labor and raised the rates for skilled labor above that set in the last reduction order by the United States labor board, and lowered the rates on unskilled labor. Silas Zwight mechanical superintendent of the railroad, said today.

Mr. Zwight said because the majority of the labor comes under a skill classification, the total shopmen payroll on the road is raised by the agreement over what it was under the labor board ruling.

Two Groups Added to Unskilled

In the war, men working on tenders and brakerigging were classified by the government as mechanics, and under the last ruling of the labor board they received 70 cents an hour. Under the new agreement they are classed as "cutmen," unskilled labor, and paid 66 cents an hour. Men in the boiler department working on ashpan and grate rigging also were dropped from the mechanics classification and given 66 cents an hour.

The majority of the employees classified as mechanics were raised from the labor board's 70 cents, Mr. Zwight said, to 72 cents. Moreover, acetylene workers were given 77 cents an hour, and toolmakers and dyeworkers 85 cents an hour. Other raises for skilled work were made.

Premium for Skilled, Says Zwight

"The new arrangement, which the men have approved as just, permit us to give highly skilled labor the premium it ought to have, and to give the mechanics more than the rough worker," Mr. Zwight said.

The 5,000 shopmen of the road formed the Associated Organization of Shopcraft Employees.

Men in the boiler department working on ashpan and grate rigging also were dropped from the mechanics classification and given 66 cents an hour.

The majority of the employees classified as mechanics were raised from the labor board's 70 cents, Mr. Wright said, to 72 cents. Moreover, acetylene workers were given 77 cents an hour, and toolmakers and dyeworkers 85 cents an hour. Other raises for skilled work were made.

Premium for Skilled, Says Wright
"The new arrangement, which the men have approved as just, permit us to give highly skilled labor the premium it ought to have, and to give the mechanics more than the rough worker," Mr. Wright said.

The 5,000 shopmen of the road formed the Associated Organization of Shopcraft Employees.

The new rates became effective last month.

The committee report recommended that they be barred. A motion approving the recommendation was passed unanimously. This sent the session into an uproar, with Workers' delegates and conservatives demanding to be heard.

Superintendent of Sanatorium Told of Its Aims and Then Served a Luncheon

The Deerwood sanatorium was the scene of much merriment Sunday afternoon when a delegation of Brainerd Lions transferred their den to that institution and rendered a program for the shut-ins.

The trip was made in automobiles over roads exceptionally good for this season of the year. One car, carrying several of the American Legion quartette, broke down on Oak street, and had to give up the pilgrimage, so the quartette numbers were necessarily omitted.

Dr. C. J. Woolway, in charge of the sanatorium, met the Brainerd aggregation at the door, and showed the Lions and their ladies through the beautiful and well equipped building, returning to the main corridor where piano and seats had been arranged for the program.

The Lions orchestra opened the meeting with several selections, followed by vocal solos by Mrs. J. H. Krekelberg, Miss Delilah Koop, A. J. Mraz and S. F. Alderman, each of which received its full quota of encores.

O. J. Bouma, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, in a short address, told of the principles and ideals of Lionism, and the work that the club had outlined for the future. He regaled his hearers with a number of amusing stories on different members of the club. Harry Butler rendered several fine violin solos.

Dr. Woolway made a few remarks in which he told of the aims of the sanatorium, the work that had been accomplished and the plans for the future. He closed by stating that his knowledge of luncheon clubs, such as the Lions, gave him the impression that they usually had ravenous appetites, and he had prepared a little spread as an appreciation of the club's efforts.

There are several patients from Brainerd at the sanatorium, one being Ed Wicklund, formerly employed at the Water & Light Board office. Mr. Wicklund sent greetings to his old friends in this city, and wished to have them call upon him when in his locality.

PUT CREAM IN NOSE AND STOP CATARRH

Tells How To Open Clogged Nostrils and End Head-Colds.

You feel fine in a few moments. Your cold in head or catarrh will be gone. Your clogged nostrils will open. The air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more dullness, headache; no hawking, snuffing, mucous discharges or dryness; no struggling for breath at night.

Tell your druggist you want a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream in your nostrils, let it penetrate through every air passage of the head; soothe and heal the swollen, inflamed mucous membrane, and relief comes instantly.

It is just what every cold and catarrh sufferer needs. Don't stay stuffed-up and miserable.

JUNIOR MUSICAL CLUB

Pleasant Gathering at the Home of Miss Winnifred Spencer on Monday Evening

The Junior Musical club met on Monday evening at the home of Miss Winnifred Spencer and in spite of the stormy night there was a fairly large audience present. It was a very appreciative one.

Mrs. L. R. Tanner gave the story of Lohengrin in attractive manner and added interesting comment on the life and works of the composer Wagner.

Mrs. Mai D. Clark sang several musical numbers which were greatly appreciated and very beautiful selections were given by Miss Alice Johnstone, violinist, and Miss Mildred Skauge, pianist.

"The Storm" is Gripping Film Drama
The clean, tangy aroma of the Northwoods fairly floats from the screen at the Lyceum theatre, where the Universal-Jewel attraction "The Storm" is being shown. It was greeted with real enthusiasm at the premier last night and it is safe to class it among the really great photoplays of the decade.

A powerful story to begin with, the scenic investiture of the great snow storm scene, and the forest fire, make it a marvel of stage-craft on the screen and one realizes why it established a record as one of the finest productions ever staged on the legitimate theatres. The film has duplicated in New York and elsewhere the success of George Broadhurst's and Langdon McCormick's play.

House Peters, star of a dozen famed portrayals, and one of the most popular actors of the day, handles the leading male role in a magnificent manner, with the performance of Virginia Valli—who plays opposite to Peters—likewise standing forth as one of the brightest gems in her crown of successes.

It was photographed against a background of deep-timbered valleys, long trails of silent forests, and the awesome white of a winterbound country. Against this scenically perfect setting, the story rushes along in a series of dramatic moments, each greater and more thrilling than its predecessor, until the final dramatic fire scene in which the spectator is almost swept to his feet.

The third angle of the triangle is played by Matt Moore and this finished actor gives a flawless interpretation that makes one hate him, even while they realize that he is only playing a character.

Josef Swickard, Frank Lanning and Gordon McGee handle the other three supporting roles in excellent style. While the cast is not large the action is all the more dramatic by reason of the concentration of parts. Reginald Barker, producer of the "Old Nest" and other famous photoplays, directed the screen version of Langdon McCormick's success.

"Eye Hath Not Seen."

The storm abated, and toward evening I crept on deck. I did not see a fair sunset, but there was a rosy light in the far west that might have been the reflection of a golden glory such as often adorns the sky over that beautiful land far westward from our rolling ship. BRAINERD'S SHORT-CIRCUITED RELATIONS

WHAT is true of the flow of electric current is also true of the flow of thought in a city. When the current on the wire comes into contact with an obstacle, friction results which generates heat which in turn may cause a destructive fire, but when the current is given the chance of a smooth flow to the lamp, light results. Any interruption between the generator and the lamp, that prevents the current fulfilling its purpose, is called by the electrician a "short" and the wire is said to be "shorted."

Just this, no more and no less, is often true of the movement of thought in a community. If the currents of thought were allowed to meet at the proper place, the currents carried by the two lines of opposing thought would yield light, but when obstacles are placed on the flow of thought, preventing a union at the end of the circuit, human relations are "shorted" and friction results.

There is never any possibility of securing understanding, mutual and helpful, when obstacles are placed in the way of the union of the two opposite viewpoints that may find expression, and that do find expression, in all communities. And those who tear off the insulation thereby "shorting" the currents of community thought are assuming a serious responsibility by causing a friction that must result in heat. Such an attitude is most dangerous, as anything is dangerous that interferes with the normal flow of either electricity of thought.

If there was ever a time when the insulation should not be torn off the wires that carry the thoughts of the people of Brainerd, that time is now. And those who deplore the radical tendencies of certain persons, a large number of persons as the recent election clearly showed, are ill-advised when they put obstacles in the way of the smooth running of the currents of thought in the community, thereby preventing these currents coming together as light and not as friction. It may be considered a "regrettable necessity" that our organizations should be open to the expression of the thoughts of both the elements that make up our civic life, but neither element is justified in concluding that it is altogether right, and either side that in any way acts so as to produce a "short circuit" in the community's thinking is a danger to the community.

Again and again, persons who take their places in one or the other of the two different elements in the city's life, say that what is needed most is the education of the other element. This is quite true. Both elements need education, and a proper education can only be made possible by a meeting at the end of the circuit where light results and not friction. No useful purpose can be secured by standing apart. "United we stand; divided we fall" is true all of the time. Only by getting together, so that frictions may be avoided and light made possible by the proper meeting of the currents of thought, will the community arrive at a place of mutual good-will and general understanding. Knowledge and understanding bring light; suspicion and misunderstanding mean friction. Brainerd needs to pass from the "short-circuited" state into one where the circuit is completed in understanding and good-will.

THE NEED OF ANALYSIS

WHEN facts and figures are given in favor of any particular system of government they must be subjected to careful scrutiny. The best way to show that a system is wrong is to give the unvarnished facts relative to what that system has produced. The same thing is true of a good system. But facts and figures that show certain things that appear good must be subjected to a careful analysis when such facts and figures call for conclusions that are not justified by the facts and figures themselves.

This is eminently true of the statement made by Governor Henry J. Allen, of Kansas, when speaking in Minneapolis Saturday evening. The governor said at that time: "Before the industrial court went into effect, they told us all the miners in the state would move away if they were forced to work under the law. A few did move. But the number who remained produced 900,000 tons of coal more, drew $4,000,000 more in wages, and raised the average number of days' employment for a year from 141 to 256. Don't you think their families knew the difference?"

Whether readers of this statement are for or against the Kansas Industrial law ought not to prevent them from seeing that the statement does not carry much conviction to its readers. We know not what the conditions in the mining industry were at the time when this record was made, but we do know that the miners themselves were not the ones who raised the number of days worked during the year from 141 to 256. The operators had something to say about that and so had the demand for the output. And, of course, the few who did move from the state made it necessary for those who did remain to work more days, and the increased output and wages does not prove that the men actually produced more coal per man but only that by working 256 days as against 141 they mined more coal in 256 days than they had previously mined in 141 days.

When will the statistics that are offered to the public relative to industrial conditions be given with that regard to the thorough understanding of the true situation which is the only means by which better relations may be brought about between capital and labor, government and voter?

$800,000 increased assessment on mining company properties means something to Hibbing. The little fellow doesn't always understand why the big fellow shirks paying taxes.

OLD man Winter delayed his coming but when he did come he walked right in.

IOWA SENATOR'S GRANDSON AND BRIDE HONEYMOON IN CAPITAL

Yes, next to Niagara Falls, Washington, D. C., is the mecca for honeymooners, for what could be more romantic than sightseeing in the nation's capital during a honeymoon? Of the latest prominent honeymooners are Mr. and Mrs. Cummins Rawson, Cummins Rawson being the grandson of Senator Albert B. Cummins, of Iowa. Mrs. Cummins was formerly Miss Ruth Gotshell, of Des Moines.

Bamboo a Good Food.

The bureau of plant industry says that natives of the Far East have eaten grass in the form of edible bamboo sprouts for many years. This tender sprout can be prepared for the table in the same manner as asparagus and is deemed by some to be a delicious spring vegetable. Bamboo, according to scientists, is not a tree, but a giant grass. It grows like asparagus, the new plants forming from the original roots.

FIERY, ITCHY ECZEMA HEALED RIGHT UP BY APPLYING SULPHUR

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Menthosulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve the torment and disfigurement. Sufferers from skin trouble should get a little jar of Rowles Menthosulphur from any good druggist and use it like a cold cream. Adv.

Gnats and Mosquitoes.

In England the term gnat is used for the insect that Americans call a mosquito. Here the term is used only for smaller insects. A gnat is a blood-sucking dipterous fly, undergoing a metamorphosis in water. The females have a proboscis armed with needle-like organs for penetrating the skin of animals.

PEOPLE OVER FORTY

People aged forty or over are less able to resist attacks of colds, grippe, influenza or pneumonia than young people. Their vital force lacks the powerful resistance of youth. Constipated bowels, sour stomach, indigestion, biliousness and weak kidneys all tend to lower the physical resistance. Millions of people now use Bulgarian Herb Tea to keep the bowels open and improve the blood. Bulgarian Herb Tea taken steaming hot will help break up a cold quickly. Physicians and druggists everywhere recommend it.

BRAINERD'S SHORT-CIRCUITED RELATIONS

WHAT is true of the flow of electric current is also true of the flow of thought in a city. When the current on the wire comes into contact with an obstacle, friction results which generates heat which in turn may cause a destructive fire, but when the current is given the chance of a smooth flow to the lamp, light results. Any interruption between the generator and the lamp, that prevents the current fulfilling its purpose, is called by the electrician a "short" and the wire is said to be "shorted."

Just this, no more and no less, is often true of the movement of thought in a community. If the currents of thought were allowed to meet at the proper place, the currents carried by the two lines of opposing thought would yield light, but when obstacles are placed on the flow of thought, preventing a union at the end of the circuit, human relations are "shorted" and friction results.

There is never any possibility of securing understanding, mutual and helpful, when obstacles are placed in the way of the union of the two opposite viewpoints that may find expression, and that do find expression, in all communities. And those who tear off the insulation thereby "shorting" the currents of community thought are assuming a serious responsibility by causing a friction that must result in heat. Such an attitude is most dangerous, as anything is dangerous that interferes with the normal flow of either electricity of thought.

If there was ever a time when the insulation should not be torn off the wires that carry the thoughts of the people of Brainerd that time is now. And those who deplore the radical tendencies of certain persons, a large number of persons as the recent election clearly showed, are ill-advised when they put obstacles in the way of the smooth running of the currents of thought in the community, thereby preventing these currents coming together as light and not as friction. It may be considered a "regrettable necessity" that our organizations should be open to the expression of the thoughts of both the elements that make up our civic life, but neither element is justified in concluding that it is altogether right, and either side that in any way acts so as to produce a "short circuit" in the community's thinking is a danger to the community.

Again and again, persons who take their places in one or the other of the two different elements in the city's life, say that what is needed most is the education of the other element. This is quite true. Both elements need education, and a proper education can only be made possible by a meeting at the end of the circuit where light results and not friction. No useful purpose can be secured by standing apart. "United we stand; divided we fall" is true all of the time. Only by getting together, so that frictions may be avoided and light made possible by the proper meeting of the currents of thought, will the community arrive at a place of mutual good-will and general understanding. Knowledge and understanding bring light; suspicion and misunderstanding mean friction. Brainerd needs to pass from the "short-circuited" state into one where the circuit is completed in understanding and good-will.

THE NEED OF ANALYSIS

WHEN facts and figures are given in favor of any particular system of government they must be subjected to careful scrutiny. The best way to show that a system is wrong is to give the unvarnished facts relative to what that system has produced. The same thing is true of a good system. But facts and figures that show certain things that appear good must be subjected to a careful analysis when such facts and figures call for conclusions that are not justified by the facts and figures themselves.

This is eminently true of the statement made by Governor Henry J. Allen, of Kansas, when speaking in Minneapolis Saturday evening. The governor said at that time: "Before the industrial court went into effect, they told us all the miners in the state would move away if they were forced to work under the law. A few did move. But the number who remained produced 900,000 tons of coal more, drew $4,000,000 more in wages, and raised the average number of days' employment for a year from 141 to 256. Don't you think their families knew the difference?"

Whether readers of this statement are for or against the Kansas Industrial law ought not to prevent them from seeing that the statement does not carry much conviction to its readers. We know not what the conditions in the mining industry were at the time when this record was made, but we do know that the miners themselves were not the ones who raised the number of days worked during the year from 141 to 256. The operators had something to say about that and so had the demand for the output. And, of course, the few who did move from the state made it necessary for those who did remain to work more days, and the increased output and wages does not prove that the men actually produced more coal per man but only that by working 256 days as against 141 they mined more coal in 256 days than they had previously mined in 141 days.

When will the statistics that are offered to the public relative to industrial conditions be given with that regard to the thorough understanding of the true situation which is the only means by which better relations may be brought about between capital and labor, government and voter?

$800,000 increased assessment on mining company properties means something to Hibbing. The little fellow doesn't always understand why the big fellow shirks paying taxes.

Mrs. Cummins was formerly Miss Ruth Gottschell, of Des Moines.

Bamboo a Good Food.

The bureau of plant industry says that natives of the Far East have eaten grass in the form of edible bamboo sprouts for many years. This tender sprout can be prepared for the table in the same manner as asparagus and is deemed by some to be a delicious spring vegetable. Bamboo, according to scientists, is not a tree, but a giant grass. It grows like asparagus, the new plants forming from the original roots.

FIERY, ITCHY ECZEMA HEALED RIGHT UP BY APPLYING SULPHUR

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve the torment and disfigurement. Sufferers from skin trouble should get a little jar of Rowles' Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like a cold cream. Adv.

In England the term gnat is used for the insect that Americans call a mosquito. Here the term is used only for smaller insects. DOOMED BY POOR FARMING

Mayan Civilization Succumbed Because of Crude Methods of Agriculture Then in Vogue.

Agricultural limitations probably caused the final breakdown of the remarkable Mayan civilization, about 550-650 A. D., and brought about the desertion of many of its magnificent cities, turning into a tropical wilderness a country which formerly supported at least 5,000,000 people. In the opinion of a member of the Carnegie Institution of Washington.

While the Maya race had worked out a system of time measurement which greatly excelled that of the Greeks, Romans or Egyptians, their methods of farming were very crude, he claims, like those of the modern Indians. The process was to burn off the forest and brush on land selected for cultivation. After one or two crops had been made on this land, they allowed the field to lie fallow, and proceeded to cut and burn and plant another field, and so on until sufficient brush had accumulated on the first field for reburning it.

Repeated burning over of the land causes grasses to come in. In this way, he thinks, the forests were converted into grass lands. Planted crops were choked out. The rapidly multiplying people needed fresh lands and finally moved elsewhere.

Other archeologists have attributed this apparently sudden break-up to a series of yellow-fever epidemics, but Dr. Morley discredits this theory.

WISE PROVISION OF NATURE

Good Old Dame Shrewd in Sending Young People Afield to Do Their Courting.

In that part of southern Europe inhabited by Slavs it is conceded that a young man in search of a wife should go to a neighboring village to find her. No such concession is made by American villagers, but Nature assumes authority and quietly works her wisdom without benefit of man's direction.

As a result, at least half of the young ladies who come to our town as school teachers remain as wives. They may be no prettier or smarter than home girls, but they have the charm of newness, and bachelor hearts long immune to the gentle passion skip a beat when they appear.

Our own girls do not remain uncourted, however. The town boys, having known them and quarreled with them since childhood, feel no thrill in their presence. But when the girls have finished college, most of them leave home again to teach in distant villages, and in a year or two we hear that young men have designs on them. These young men come a-courting during the summer, and we look them over shrewdly to see if they are worthy.

Nature is a wise old party, and she did more than statutes could do to prevent inbreeding when she made the hills look green far away.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

College Rules Little Changed.

Here are some of the rules of Hamilton college, Clinton, N. J., published in 1813. It will be noted that Twentieth century freshmen and sophomores retain the old titles, but, that in this day the senior and junior sophisters have become merely seniors and juniors.

"The undergraduate students shall be divided into four distinct classes. The first year they shall be called freshmen; the second, sophomores; the third, junior sophisters, and the fourth, senior sophisters. And in order to preserve a due subordination among the students, the classes shall give and receive, in the course of their collegiate life, those tokens of respect and subjection which from common and approved usage belong to their standing in the college."

Love Affair Quickly Ended.

My first love affair began and ended all in the same evening, when I was a boy of sixteen. Each Halloween, in our little country town, the young folks indulged in what was then called a Halloween hunt. The girls hid themselves somewhere about town and the fellows hunted for them, the losing side being forced to treat the winners to supper afterward. This particular time the boys found the girls in an old hayloft. I spied the first girl and she was a total stranger to me, a visiting girl, I found out later. She was about fifteen and sweet as a peach. I fell head over heels in love with her, then and there. But, alas, the next morning, she returned to her home in the city, and I never saw or heard from her again.—Chicago Journal.

Look Ahead.

There's no substitute for looking ahead. Some folks prate about brains. Folks with much of the article seldom say much about it. It's the short end fellow who rants about it and tries to impress you with what he hasn't got. But look ahead anyhow. There'll be plenty of opportunity to duck disaster if you know just when to do it. If you've got to buck the world you can do it a lot better when you go at it with your eyes open.

Just now we believe in shaping our own destiny. We fashion and build as we see and feel. So once and for all look ahead. See your task in big letters. Then meet the situation in your biggest way. The future will bear record to how well you've done it.—Grit.

PINE RIVER'S GAME FIGHT

Brainerd Looks Good, Fit to Battle With Best, Teams Plays Closely

(By W. G.)

Brainerd easily disposed of the Pine River basketball crowd with a decisive score of 26 to 6, last Saturday night at the high school gym. The visitors started out with a lot of zest and continued a game fight till the final whistle, but at no time was the outcome left in doubt. Brainerd came down the floor to their opponents goal time and time again, and although missing many tries, succeeded in running up a respectable score.

Pine River shows much promise as good clean scrappers, and after being members of the basketball conference for a short time, will be considered dangerous. Brainerd looks good, a regular up and coming team, fit to battle with the best. Peterson, Heikenen, and Hess playing closely together with Engbretson covering the whole floor. Orth gave much promise at guard. Lowe and Molstad are capable men who will have better chances as the season progresses.

The line-up was as follows:

Pine River	Brainerd
Bowman	R. F. Engbretson
Robineau	L. F. Engbretson
Jones	C. Peterson
Schwartz	R. G. Orth
Christian	L. G. Heikenen

Substitutes: Pine River, Williams; Brainerd: Molstad and Lowe.

GOOD ROADS IN GENERAL

Gist of Weekly Report as Given Out by the County Highway Engineer's Office

STATE ROAD NOS. 1, 3, 5 AND 8

White Lines in the Northern Part of Crow Wing County Fine, in South are Fair

Good roads generally, is the gist of the weekly report given out from the County Highway Engineer's office today. The detailed report follows:

State Road No. 1, (13th street) First six miles, good. Surfacing of this section will begin this week. Last six miles to Morrison county line, excellent.

State Road No. 3, (Brainerd to Merrifield and north) From Brainerd to Merrifield, very good; next six miles, to surfacing work now in progress, fair. First part of surfacing is rough. This work is being rapidly brought to completion, only about one-half mile remaining. Last three miles of new work, good; old road from this point to Emily, good.

State Road No. 5, (Deerwood, Bay Lake and south) From Flint corner north past Portage lake to new grading, good. Thence over new construction to sanitarium creek bridge, good. New bridge at this creek is completed, but traffic is still diverted over a temporary structure to the eastward. From creek to Deerwood road is rough in places, but fairly smooth most of the way.

State Road No. 8, (Crosby to Emily and north to Cass county line). Better to use detour from Crosby through Wolford to Mississippi river bridge, as the new road over the hills is rough. From bridge over 3 1/2 miles of new road north, surfacing is being carried on, use detour to Fairfield town line, this road fair. From this point to Emily, road is excellent. From Emily through Outing to Cass county line, good.

White lines in the northern part of Crow Wing county are fine, in the southern section of the county, fair, more clay being encountered in the southern part than in the north.

Recent snows have made good bottom for travel, both for automobiles and sleighs, covering over many of the rough pieces of highway with a smoothly packed surface.

Construction work on the Pequot-Breezy Point road has been discontinued for the remainder of the winter. John Humphrey, the contractor, having taken off his crew, as has also P. W. Roark from the construction work being done on the Deerwood-Bay Lake road. Clearing and grubbing on both of these projects will be kept up all winter, however.

Farm Legislation

St. Paul, Dec. 12.—Farm legislation was in the making here today.

Farmer members of the Minnesota house of representatives, aided by two attorneys, met to frame measures they will propose at the January sessions, to aid agriculture in the state.

The eight members form an unofficial committee named by W. I. Nolan, who expects to be elected speaker of the house and is virtually assured that honor. Members elect, who met in conference here Nov. 21, authorized the appointment of a number of committees by Mr. Nolan, who are preparing legislation to be submitted.

One house member from each congressional district was appointed on the committee to frame agricultural legislation. R. A. Wilkinson, of Lake Elmo, was named chairman.

The rural credits amendment, passed at the November elections, calls for a large amount of legislation to make the amendment effective. Chairman Wilkinson will propose a rural credits act when the committee meets. Minor changes in cooperative laws passed by the last legislature will be proposed. Granting of broader powers to the commissioner of agriculture will be urged by committee members.

The committee may ask the legislature to adopt a resolution requesting congress to pass a law fixing prices on farm products and the purchase of the exportable surplus of each commodity at a fixed price.

The committee members are S. B. Shonyo, Elgin; H. J. Farmer, Pipestone; J. R. Sweltzer, St. Paul; W. I. Norton, Minneapolis; O. P. Jacobson, Little Falls; Otto C. Neuman, Wheaton; George H. Herried, Deer River; F. A. Green, Stephen, and Thomas Horton, North Branch.

PINE RIVER'S GAME FIGHT

Brainerd Looks Good, Fit to Battle With Best, Teams Plays Closely

(By W. G.)

Brainerd easily disposed of the Pine River basketball crowd with a decisive score of 26 to 6, last Saturday night at the high school gym. The visitors started out with a lot of zest and continued a game fight till the final whistle, but at no time was the outcome left in doubt. Brainerd came down the floor to their opponents goal time and time again, and although missing many tries, succeeded in running up a respectable score.

Pine River shows much promise as good clean scrappers, and after being members of the basketball conference for a short time, will be considered dangerous. Brainerd looks good, a regular up and coming team, fit to battle with the best. Peterson, Heikenen, and Hess playing closely together with Engbretson covering the whole floor. Orth gave much promise at guard. Lowe and Molstad are capable men who will have better chances as the season progresses.

The line-up was as follows:

Pine River	Brainerd
Bowman	R. F. Engbretson
Robineau	L. F. Engbretson
Jones	C. Peterson
Schwartz	R. G. Orth
Christian	L. G. Heikenen

Substitutes: Pine River, Williams. Brainerd: Molstad and Lowe. Officials: Referee, Adams St. Cloud. Timekeeper: Harbo, Staples.

BOGUS AGENTS IN SWINDLE GAME

(By United Press)

St. Paul, Dec. 12.—Bogus prohibition agents last night swindled Joseph Mayer out of $150.

The men entered the Mayer home and flashed stars, and began a search for liquor. They found a bottle of wine and a bottle of moonshine. They told Mayer he was under arrest, and told him to bring bail money along. Mayer produced $150. The men took it and left, telling him he was temporarily at liberty.

DISABLED VETERANS FARM SCHOOL HERE

Board of Education Seeking to Gain This for Brainerd School District

CHAMBER FIRST TOOK IT UP

Government Desires School Under Supervision of School Authorities Instead of Civic Organization

Brainerd is very much interested in having the disabled veterans agricultural school located in this city. Some time ago, through the Chamber of Commerce, the matter was taken up and a contract signed with the government. But because this contract was altered and because the government desired the school to be under the supervision of school authorities instead of a civic organization, the deal never went through.

It was reported in the Grand Rapids, Minnesota, papers that the school was going to that town, which brought renewed efforts on the part of local men in an endeavor to make a new contract which would bring the institution to Brainerd. A special committee appeared before the school board last Monday evening and this body has taken up the matter in the hope that it is not too late to enter into an agreement with the proper authorities.

Superintendent W. C. Cobb was instructed to get in touch with the State Department of Education, and to get their views on the subject. He is just in receipt of an answer to this letter which should be of special interest to all Dispatch readers. Paul Calrow, state supervisor of Agricultural Education is the writer and his letter follows:

"Dear Mr. Cobb: Mr. Phillips has referred your letter of the 5th to me for attention.

"The plan which you mention in your letter concerning the Veterans Bureau work in your high school at Brainerd sounds reasonable to me. It so happens that a man by the name of E. D. Ayers dropped into this office yesterday and put up this proposition to me. He has been the agricultural expert representing the Veterans Bureau in the northern part of this state. During the six months of the growing season he has been supervising these war veterans who have been put out on small farms. He decided that the work is very successful but that the Federal Government has decided to allow these men to remain on their farms for an indefinite length of time and hire various agricultural specialists to assist these veterans while they are on the farm throughout the entire year. The plan in the past, as I understand it, has been to have the school of agriculture at the University farm take over this work and to give these men six months of training at the school, and then have them do six months of practical work on small farms.

"It seems as though the school still feels that these veterans ought to be brought back for six months of training in the school. This, of course, means a very expensive proposition as far as the federated government is concerned, and I assume that they are attempting to cut down expenses incurred by transporting these men to and from the school during the six months period by permitting them to continue on their farms throughout the year and then to hire specialists sent out from different parts of the state to assist them while on their jobs.

"The federal government has put up the same proposition which you mention in your letter to the Grand Rapids high school. I have been in communication with Mr. Barker concerning it and it looks as though they were going to take up with the proposition. To me it seems a more feasible plan than the one they have previously tried out in connection with the school of agriculture at the University farm. I also think that it would be quite desirable on the part of the school district to make themselves more fully felt in the community. Personally, I know of no reason, from what information I now have, why this would not be a very desirable proposition to take up with.

"If you desire any further assistance from this department, I shall be only too glad to help you."

CITY COUNCIL

SPECIAL SESSION

In the Absence of President J. H. Strickler, Vice President Michael Presided

SEWER ESTIMATES PRESENTED

Alderman Cordes of Fifth Ward Resigns from Council, and Resignation Accepted

The city council met in special session Monday night, all members being present except Alderman Cordes, Witham and Strickler. In the absence of the president, Vice President Michael presided.

Library Board Appointment

Mayor Little presented the name of Miss Ada F. Dye, and stated that he had appointed her to the Library Board, and asked the council confirm his appointment, which action was taken.

Fire Department

Fire Chief Henry McGinn made the statement that material ordered for his department some time ago had not yet been received. The clerk was instructed to take this matter up with the firm from whom the purchase was made and get an adjustment.

Sewer Estimates

The city engineer brought up three estimates with the recommendation that they be adopted: The first was the estimate of the Sherlund Co., on the lateral sewers amounting to $7235.86, and on motion same was adopted.

Estimate number 2 and the final estimate, on the grading of Quince street by Clusiau & Ledberg, contractors, amounting to $2,411.62, was presented and on motion was allowed.

An estimate of the extra work on sewers by S. A. Riches & Son, was presented, amounting to $1888.73, and was allowed upon proper motion.

The city engineer reported on the Northern Pacific assessment on the general sewer and his report was ordered filed.

Alderman Cordes Resigned

The resignation of Alderman Otto Cordes was read and on motion same was accepted.

The reports of the Chief of Police and Clerk of the Municipal Court were read and on motion placed on file. These reports will be printed in Wednesdays paper.

The matter of a garbage franchise to Howard Miles was referred to the mayor and police committee to report at the next regular meeting.

Ministerial Association

The following communication was received from the Ministerial Association: "To the city council of Brainerd: At the regular meeting of the Ministerial Association of Brainerd, at the Y. M. C. A. on Monday, Nov. 20th, the secretary was asked to send you a word of commendation in regard to the attitude you have lately taken on ordinance No. 309.

"We feel that it is in the interest of the whole city that this matter has received the support of the city council. (Signed) Rev. L. F. Strothman, Sec."

This letter was read and on motion it was ordered placed on file.

Court House Site

Alderman Lyons offered a resolution protesting the use of a part of the court house grounds for a filling station. This resolution will be published in full in this paper.

Alderman Brusegaard, chairman of the finance committee, brought up the matter of auditing the city books and after a discussion of the subject it was moved that Mr. Brusegaard be empowered to secure the services of Henry White to make this audit.

Alderman Brusegaard moved that a recommendation be made to the city charter commission that the chapter on finances be rewritten.

A. A. White Park Site

Attorney H. A. Swanson and B. L. Lagerquist appeared before the council, expecting to meet A. A. White, who wishes to make a donation to the city of some property he owns in Brainerd. Mr. White failed to appear, and the matter was put over until the regular meeting on next Monday night.

Alderman Michael asked to be relieved of the chairmanship of the meeting at this point, Alderman Anderson taking his place. Mr. Michael then presented a sprinkling assessment covering the downtown district, and on motion same was approved.

Telephone Rates

On motion of Alderman Michael the city clerk was ordered to write to the Railroad and Warehouse Commission in regard to telephone rates and comparative rates from other cities to St. Paul and Duluth. Mr. Michael also moved that the city clerk be instructed to write the Brainerd

Gas Co. for its rates for installing gas service and all other charges.

After presenting this business, the vice president again resumed the chair. The mayor reported that three of the patrolmen on the police force were to be laid off beginning Monday, Dec. 11th.

A motion was made that all bills be allowed subject to the approval of the finance committee, after which the council adjourned. The regular meeting is scheduled for next Monday evening.

No Action on Tax Levy

No action was taken on the tax levy for 1933 because the full council was not present. President Strickler has been out of town for some time and efforts have been made to get in communication with him.

IN MUNICIPAL COURT

David Bary Pleads Guilty to Frequenting a Gambling Place and is Fined $15

David Bary was in municipal court Tuesday morning, charged with conducting the poker game that was raided by the police on Sunday evening. The eleven others picked up at that time plead guilty and were fined by Judge Warner on Monday.

Bary plead not guilty, and his case continued until this morning, at which time the charge was changed to frequenting a gambling place. He plead guilty to this charge and was fined $15 which he paid.

DISABLED VETERANS

FARM SCHOOL HERE

Board of Education Seeking to Gain This for Brainerd School District

CHAMBER FIRST TOOK IT UP

Government Desires School Under Supervision of School Authorities Instead of Civic Organization

Brainerd is very much interested in having the disabled veterans agricultural school located in this city. Some time ago, through the Chamber of Commerce, the matter was taken up and a contract signed with the government. But because this contract was altered and because the government desired the school to be under the supervision of school authorities instead of a civic organization, the deal never went through.

It was reported in the Grand Rapids, Minnesota, papers that the school was going to that town, which brought renewed efforts on the part of local men in an endeavor to make a new contract which would bring the institution to Brainerd. A special committee appeared before the school board last Monday evening and this body has taken up the matter in the hope that it is not too late to enter into an agreement with the proper authorities.

Superintendent W. C. Cobb was instructed to get in touch with the State Department of Education, and to get their views on the subject. He is just in receipt of an answer to this letter which should be of special interest to all Dispatch readers. Paul Calrow, state supervisor of Agricultural Education is the writer and his letter follows:

"Dear Mr. Cobb: Mr. Phillips has referred your letter of the 5th to me for attention.

"The plan which you mention in your letter concerning the Veterans Bureau work in your high school at Brainerd sounds reasonable to me. It so happens that a man by the name of E. D. Ayers dropped into this office yesterday and put up this proposition to me. He has been the agricultural expert representing the Veterans Bureau in the northern part of this state. During the six months of the growing season he has been supervising these war veterans who have been put out on small farms. He decided that the work is very successful but that the Federated Government has decided to allow these men to remain on their farms for an indefinite length of time and hire various agricultural specialists to assist these veterans while they are on the farm throughout the entire year. The plan in the past, as I understand it, has been to have the school of agriculture at the University farm take over this work and to give these men six months of training at the school, and then have them do six months of practical work on small farms.

"It seems as though the school still feels that these veterans ought to be brought back for six months of training in the school. This, of course, means a very expensive proposition as far as the federated government is concerned, and I assume that they are attempting to cut down expenses incurred by transporting these men to and from the school during the six months period by permitting them to continue on their farms throughout the year and then to hire specialists sent out from different parts of the state to assist them while on their jobs.

"The federal government has put up the same proposition which you mention in your letter to the Grand Rapids high school. I have been in communication with Mr. Barker concerning it and it looks as though they were going to take up with the proposition. To me it seems a more feasible plan than the one they have previously tried out in connection with the school of agriculture at the University farm. I also think that it would be quite desirable on the part of the school district to make themselves more fully felt in the community. Personally, I know of no reason, from what information I now have, why this would not be a very desirable proposition to take up with.

"If you desire any further assistance from this department, I shall be only too glad to help you."

FANNING WITH ARRELL

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Dec. 12.—While the closing year has produced many notable achievements in sports, it was more famous for its developments of first class "busts." Favorites had a terrible year and some of the best of all the upsets were reserved for a final smack during the football season.

It would be difficult to classify the biggest bust of the year, but Georges Carpentier was not the least of them and neither was Babe Ruth.

Perhaps Ruth was the outstanding failure of the year, because in his downfall there was not the element of chance and luck that was behind the fist of Battling Siki when it swung against the jaw of the handsome Carpentier.

The Babe was a bust and a terrible one, through faults particularly and peculiarly his own.

The real prize bust of baseball, however, were the New York Yanks in the world series. Ruth with his own little reversal of form helped the American League champions to lose four straight games to the Giants and thereby provide a surprise from which many pocketbooks have not yet recovered.

Morvich, the champion two-year-old of 1921, was the big bust of the turf. The Block youngster won the Kentucky Derby and conducted himself in the early season as if the deeds of Man o' War were to be shoved back to second place in the books. He's in the stud now with the classic label of a canine.

The reversal of form in Morvich had a strange effect on the Block stable, which won twelve out of thirteen races of 1921 and lost twelve out of thirteen in 1922.

Yale's football team was the big explosion of a season of football that was one big upset. The startling failure of the Yale team to live up to expectations was one of the big outstanding developments of the season.

Form went far wide of the mark in the east, but Iowa, in winning a tie for the Western Conference championship, lived up to advance notices and with the exception of the game with Southern California, the University of California eleven scored as many points as it was expected.

On her home courts, Mrs. Molla Mallory was the tennis queen, but she was a prominent failure when she tried to defeat Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, the French girl, in the British championship.

Bill Tilden's big bust was a bust at the critics who predicted and bet that Little Bill Johnston would take the championship from him.

As a whole the British players were the fizzes of golf and Gene Sarazen was the sensation of the year. Walter Hagen upset a lot of good predictions when he won the British open championship and Sarazen surprised every one when he won the American open title, the professional championship and when he beat Hagen in a match for the unofficial world's championship.

Yale's surprises did not all consist in being defeated. The Yale varsity eight produced one of the big surprises of the early summer when it won a brilliant race from the Harvard crew.

The outstanding jolt on the water was the performance of the Washington crew which came from the coast to the Hudson and finished second behind the Navy, one of the greatest combinations that ever sat in a shell.

AMUSEMENTS

"The Storm" Now at Lyceum

Setting a new pace for the screen in realism and downright thrills in the same manner the original production did upon the legitimate stage, "The Storm" opened its local engagement at the Lyceum theatre last night to an enthusiastic and appreciative audience. In many respects this Universal-Jewel presentation surpasses the stage version, notably in the storm and fire scenes where miles of exteriors offered a greater opportunity to Director Reginald Barker than were at the disposal of George Broadhurst. It will be shown again tonight for the last time.

Wally Reid in "World's Champion"

The fight scenes in "The World's Champion," Wallace Reid's Paramount picture coming to the Lyceum theatre Wednesday and Thursday, were filmed in the monster stadium erected by the Hollywood Post of the American Legion, where amateur bouts are staged every week before large audiences of motion picture and boxing fans. About a thousand persons were employed as extras. The sequence in question is the one wherein Reid, as "Gunboat Williams" is shown to defeat his opponent.

ent, winning the world's middle-weight champion, after which he returns home to England, shocks his conservative parents with his prestige among the nobility, thrashes his rival, who had beaten him in a former battle combat, and wins the girl. Lois Wilson plays the leading feminine role.

Time's Changes in England.

The poacher, the trespasser, the man who by accident lets his pigs or hedges out upon the public road, the urchin who robs an orchard, and many minor rural "malefactors" are, it is generally claimed, being more personally dealt with by modern country magistrates, in England. The abolition of the old-time benches of squire and landowners, whose right to be made justices of the peace was almost regarded as hereditary, and their substitution by men of integrity in every walk of life, and now by women, has wrought a change in rural police court justice which the country mind understands and appreciates to the full. On a country bench recently, a prominent landowner, his agent, one of his laborers were all adjudicating together.

A Kind Wish.

When Jean went to her little neighbor's to visit she often talked to the grandmother of the house. "I have a grandmother, too," she would say, "but she's in heaven."

And she and the grandmother of the house were good friends until one day the grandmother was cross. She scolded the two little girls for leaving the screen door open, for walking in a flower bed and dropping crumbs on the floor.

The two youngsters sought refuge on the porch. Grandmother started to follow them there a little later, to try to make up. She realized the necessity of doing so, for when she reached the door she heard Jean say: "Ruth, I wish your grandmother was visitin' my grandmother today."

A Noodle Seed.

During cherry season, Bobby had been cautioned repeatedly about swallowing the seeds. One day, at dinner, noodles were served. Little Bobby came upon a tiny piece of bone from the broth, and yelled in astonishment: "Whv, mother, here's a noodle seed!"

Lumber Seasoning Speeded.

A French method for kiln drying lumber in two days with heated air containing an excess of oxygen is claimed to produce stronger material than older, slower processes.

Time's Changes Since 1869.

Times have changed since 1869, when John Eaton, Jr., was superintendent of schools for Tennessee. In Eaton's biennial report, published in 1869, the following excerpt appears:

"The prejudice existing in most communities to this class of instructors (women teachers) is as groundless as it is unjust. The eight lady teachers who have so honorably acquitted themselves in our school have proven beyond a doubt their capacity to teach, govern and manage the largest and most unruly. They are not only equal to male teachers in the exercise of the common duties of the school room, but far better adapted to advance the class of scholars now attending free schools."

Evidently Christians.

An American family living in China recently hired two servants from Nanking, a missionary center. Accordingly, the new servants were Christians. Another Chinese servant in the family discovered the newcomers' religion and reported the fact to his mistress. Asked how he knew the new boys were Christians, he said: "Oh, they know all about God, Jesus Christ, and Santa Claus."

Daddy's Occupation.

It was the first day of school and the teacher was taking the names of the children, those of their fathers and the business of each one. Small Lucy gave her name and that of her father, but hesitated and became silent when it came to his business. Urged by the teacher, she blushing said: "He is Aunt Jane that does the woman's page and the beauty column of the newspaper."

Truthfulness.

I cannot help telling the truth as I view it, describing what I see. To describe it otherwise than it seems to me would be falsehood in that calling in which it has pleased heaven to place me; treason to that conscience which says that men are weak, that truth must be told, that faults must be prayed for, and that love reigns over all.—Thackeray

Combination of Head and Heart.

Friendship is sentiment, but it is more than that. It is of the head, but chiefly of the heart. He who has intellectualism only can have no friends. He who has a great heart, and little intellectualism may win the respect of many, but the deep friendship of few. This is because both the mind and the heart enter into the cultivation of friendship.

Not Quite What He Meant.

Many examples of babu English are published from time to time, but an advertisement that appeared in the columns of an Indian paper must be among the best. Here it is, word for word: "Mahomed Osman, hair-cutter and clean shaver, Gentlemen's throats cut with very sharp razors with great care and skill. No irritating feeling afterwards. A trial solicited."

"COLD IN THE HEAD"

is an acute attack of Nasal Catarrh. Those subject to frequent "colds" are generally in a "run down" condition. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is a treatment consisting of an Ointment, to be used locally, and a Tonic, which acts quickly through the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces, building up the System, and making you less liable to "colds." Perhaps Ruth was the outstanding failure of the year, because in his downfall there was not the element of chance and luck that was behind the fist of Battling Siki when it swung against the jaw of the handsome Carpentier.

The Babe was a bust and a terrible one, through faults particularly and peculiarly his own.

The real prize bust of baseball, however, were the New York Yanks in the world series. Ruth with his own little reversal of form helped the American League champions to lose four straight games to the Giants and thereby provide a surprise from which many pocketbooks have not yet recovered.

Morvich, the champion two-year-old of 1921, was the big bust of the turf. The Block youngster won the Kentucky Derby and conducted himself in the early season as if the deeds of Man o' War were to be shoved back to second place in the books. He's in the stud now with the classic label of a canine.

The reversal of form in Morvich had a strange effect on the Block stable, which won twelve out of thirteen races of 1921 and lost twelve out of thirteen in 1922.

Yale's football team was the big explosion of a season of football that was one big upset. The startling failure of the Yale team to live up to expectations was one of the big outstanding developments of the season.

Form went far wide of the mark in the east, but Iowa, in winning a tie for the Western Conference championship, lived up to advance notices and with the exception of the game with Southern California, the University of California eleven scored as many points as it was expected.

On her home courts, Mrs. Molla Mallory was the tennis queen, but she was a prominent failure when she tried to defeat Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, the French girl, in the British championship.

Bill Tilden's big bust was a bust at the critics who predicted and let that little Bill Johnston would take the championship from him.

As a whole the British players were the fizzes of golf and Gene Sarazen was the sensation of the year. Walter Hagen upset a lot of good predictions when he won the British open championship and Sarazen surprised every one when he won the American open title, the professional championship and when he beat Hagen in a match for the unofficial world's championship.

Yale's surprises did not all consist in being defeated. The Yale varsity eight produced one of the big surprises of the early summer when it won a brilliant race from the Harvard crew.

The outstanding jolt on the water was the performance of the Washington crew which came from the coast to the Hudson and finished second behind the Navy, one of the greatest combinations that ever sat in a shell.

AMUSEMENTS

"The Storm" Now at Lyceum

Setting a new pace for the screen in realism and downright thrills in the same manner the original production did upon the legitimate stage, "The Storm" opened its local engagement at the Lyceum theatre last night to an enthusiastic and appreciative audience. In many respects this Universal-Jewel presentation surpasses the stage version, notably in the storm and fire scenes where miles of exteriors offered a greater opportunity to Director Reginald Barker than were at the disposal of George Broadhurst. It will be shown again tonight for the last time.

Wally Reid in "World's Champion"

The fight scenes in "The World's Champion," Wallace Reid's Paramount picture coming to the Lyceum theatre Wednesday and Thursday, were filmed in the monster stadium erected by the Hollywood Post of the American Legion, where amateur bouts are staged every week before large audiences of motion picture and boxing fans. About a thousand persons were employed as extras. The sequence in question is the one wherein Reid, as "Gunboat Williams" is shown to defeat his opponent.

ent, winning the world's middle-weight champion, after which he returns home to England, shocks his conservative parents with his prestige among the nobility, thrashes his rival, who had beaten him in a former fistie combat, and wins the girl. Lois Wilson plays the leading feminine role.

Time's Changes in England.
The poacher, the trespasser, the man who by accident lets his pigs or heifers out upon the public road, the urchin who robs an orchard, and many minor rural "malefactors" are, it is generally claimed, being more personally dealt with by modern country magistrates. In England, the abolition of the old-time benches of squire and landowners, whose right to be made justices of the peace was almost regarded as hereditary, and their substitution by men of integrity in every walk of life, and now by women, has wrought a change in rural police court justice which the country mind understands and appreciates to the full. On a country bench recently, a prominent landowner, his agent, one of his laborers were all adjudicating together.

A Kind Wish.
When Jean went to her little neighbor's to visit she often talked to the grandmother of the house. "I have a grandmother, too," she would say. "But she's in heaven."
And she and the grandmother of the house were good friends until one day the grandmother was cross. She scolded the two little girls for leaving the screen door open, for walking in a flower bed and dropping crumbs on the floor.
The two youngsters sought refuge on the porch. Grandmother started to follow them there a little later, to try to make up. She realized the necessity of doing so, for when she reached the door she heard Jean say: "Ruth, I wish your grandmother was visitin' my grandmother today."

A Noodle Seed.
During cherry season, Bobby had been cautioned repeatedly about swallowing the seeds. One day, at dinner, noodles were served. Little Bobby came upon a tiny piece of bone from the broth, and yelled in astonishment: "Why, mother, here's a noodle seed!"

Lumber Seasoning Speeded.
A French method for kiln drying lumber in two days with heated air containing an excess of oxygen is claimed to produce stronger material than older, slower processes.

Time's Changes Since 1869.
Times have changed since 1869, when John Eaton, Jr., was superintendent of schools for Tennessee. In Eaton's biennial report, published in 1869, the following excerpt appears:
"The prejudice existing in most communities to this class of instructors (women teachers) is as groundless as it is unjust. The eight lady teachers who have so honorably acquitted themselves in our school have proven beyond a doubt their capacity to teach, govern and manage the largest and most unruly. They are not only equal to male teachers in the exercise of the common duties of the school room, but far better adapted to advance the class of scholars now attending free schools."

Evidently Christians.
An American family living in China recently hired two servants from Nanking, a missionary center. Accordingly, the new servants were Christians. Another Chinese servant in the family discovered the newcomers' religion and reported the fact to his mistress. Asked how he knew the new boys were Christians, he said: "Oh, they know all about God, Jesus Christ, and Santa Claus."

Daddy's Occupation.
It was the first day of school and the teacher was taking the names of the children, those of their fathers and the business of each one. Small Lucy gave her name and that of her father, but hesitated and became silent when it came to his business. Urged by the teacher, she blushing said: "He is Aunt Jane that does the woman's page and the beauty column of the newspaper."

Truthfulness.
I cannot help telling the truth as I view it, describing what I see. To describe it otherwise than it seems to me would be falsehood in that calling in which it has pleased heaven to place me; treason to that conscience which says that men are weak, that truth must be told, that faults must be prayed for, and that love reigns over all.—Thackeray

Combination of Head and Heart.
Friendship is sentiment, but it is more than that. It is of the head, but chiefly of the heart. He who has intellectuality only can have no friends. He who has a great heart, and little intellectuality may win the respect of many, but the deep friendship of few. This is because both the mind and the heart enter into the cultivation of friendship.

Not Quite What He Meant.
Many examples of babu English are published from time to time, but an advertisement that appeared in the columns of an Indian paper must be among the best. Here it is, word for word: "Mahomed Osman, hair-cutter and clean shaver. Gentlemen's throats cut with very sharp razors with great care and skill. No irritating feeling afterwards. A trial solicited."

"COLD IN THE HEAD"
Is an acute attack of Nasal Catarrh. Those subject to frequent "colds" are generally in a "run down" condition. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is a treatment consisting of an Ointment, to be used locally, and a Tonic, which acts quickly through the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces, building up the System, and making you less liable to "colds." Sold by druggists for over 40 Years. F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.
